

Dr. Lori Paluti

Professional Background

Dr. Lori Paluti holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Movement Science, Master of Education in Adult Learning/Technology and a Doctorate in Business Administration.

Her professional background spans over a 30 -year period and includes working as an adjunct faculty member and academic tutor for the Community College of Allegheny County and the University of Phoenix Online.

Currently, Dr. Paluti is the sole proprietor of a Pittsburgh based workforce development company that focuses on training workers for the Autonomous Aerial Vehicle industry.

As a service to the community, Dr. Paluti serves as a regional, national and international science and engineering judge for middle and high school students and as a tutor for basic adult literacy.