WHEREAS, committed to the principles of collaboration and communication as being fundamental to the practice of architecture, Daniel Rothschild first founded Rothschild Architects in Regent Square on November 21, 1988 and was immediately joined by Ken Doyno; and

WHEREAS, in 1997, after years of utilizing their Design Sketchbook Process, a methodology based on collaboration and inclusivity, Daniel named Ken partner, then changing the firm's name in 2003 to Rothschild Doyno Architects; and

WHEREAS, continuing its growth, the firm's work expanded to include the restoration of communities through urban and community design, with their expertise in vision and execution garnering them awards and accolades; and

WHEREAS, in developing their ESP Framework analysis tool, the firm recognized that successful community restoration considers not only the physical realm but also the network of economic and social forces that can align to meet the needs of all people; and

WHEREAS, the firm officially became Rothschild Doyno Collaborative in 2008, moving its headquarters to its current location in the Strip District and codifying its mission as an architecture and urban design firm committed to a collaborative process with clients that increases the value of the built environment through meaningful design solutions; and

WHEREAS, in 2013, Rothschild Doyno Collaborative expanded ownership to include partners Geoff

Campbell, Michael Gwin, and Kate Tunney; and

WHEREAS, over the years, Rothschild Doyno Collaborative has received numerous awards and honors from the Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania chapters of the American Institute of Architects for architecture and for urban design projects; and

WHEREAS, Rothschild Doyno Collaborative shares its success in celebration with the clients, communities, consultants, contractors, and craftspeople with whom they have worked together throughout the City of Pittsburgh and the region; and

WHEREAS, Rothschild Doyno Collaborative has recognized that joy and trust in the workplace lead to joy and trust in our communities; and

WHEREAS, on November 21, 2013 Rothschild Doyno Collaborative celebrates 25 years of meaningful collaboration in the design of buildings and communities across Pittsburgh.

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh does hereby commend Rothschild Doyno Collaborative's 25 years of commitment to improving our region socially and environmentally for their clients, our communities, and future generations of Pittsburgh.

THEREFORE BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh does hereby declare Thursday November 21, 2013 to be Rothschild Doyno Collaborative Day in the City of Pittsburgh.
